

U.S. Makes Impassioned Plea To Keep Nationalist China In U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States made an impassioned plea Monday to keep Nationalist China in the United Nations despite warnings that this might delay solution to the 22-year-old controversy over Chinese representation.

U.S. Ambassador George Bush addressed the 131-nation General Assembly after Albania's foreign minister, Nesti Nase, had opened the crucial debate with a declaration that Peking would have nothing to do with the world organization as long as the Nationalists remained.

Nase charged that the U.S.-backed "dual representation" plan was aimed at creating a deadlock and preventing Red China from taking a seat, even though a substantial majority has gone on record as favoring Peking participation.

Bush said "no one knows for sure how Peking will react" to the adoption of the proposal for seating the mainland government in the assembly and the Security Council, while preserving the membership of the Nationalist delegation.

The Albanian foreign minister and other pro-Peking diplomats, however, quoted from the Aug. 20 statement by the Peking government barring participation under any sort of two Chinas or one-China, one-Taiwan plan. The pro-Peking group also had the Peking policy statement circulated in full as a U.N. document.

The debate is expected to continue through the remainder of this week, with a vote coming early next week. The intense interest in the discussion was reflected in the presence of all but four or five delegations in the blue and green assembly chamber as the debate got underway. The public gallery was nearly full.

Among those present, besides ambassadors and their aides, were Chow Shu-kai, the Chinese Nationalist foreign minister; Kiichi Aichi, former foreign minister of Japan; and Princes Ashraf Pahlavi, twin sister of the shah of Iran, who heads her country's delegation.

Chow, speaking at the afternoon session, said it would be "a tragic and irreparable mistake" if the assembly should replace his delegation with one from Peking.

The Albanian foreign minister appealed for support of the so-called Albanian resolution calling for the expulsion of the Taiwan delegation and the seating of Peking.

"There is only one Chinese state in the world today," Nase said. "There is no place for the Chiang Kai-shek clique."

Nase described the U.S. policy as "hostile to the People's Republic of China."

"Any attempt to block the restoration of the lawful rights of the People's Republic of China," he asserted, "is doomed to defeat."

Bush contended that the only fair solution was to keep Taiwan in the United Nations. In this way, he said, "all the people of China would thus be represented in the United Nations by the governments which for over 20 years have actually governed them."

Noting that the world organization had never in its history expelled a member, he said:

"Let us remember with realism that, once expelled, the likelihood of the Republic of China being admitted to the U.N. as a separate member, under whatever name or label, would be approximately zero, given the fact that under the charter a proposal for its admission could be vetoed by the People's Republic of China."

Bush said that in his view "a vote for the Albanian resolution is a vote against universality of U.N. membership."

The U.S. ambassador urged support for a second U.S.-backed resolution which would declare the expulsion of Nationalist China an "important question" and thus require a two-thirds majority.

"The one and only question involved here," he said, "is expulsion. Are you for it or against it? It is just that simple."

He repeated that U.S. contacts with Peking would not be at the "expense of any other party"—presumably the Soviet Union.

"Let us welcome a large and dynamic reality to our midst," he declared.

Needy Children May Get Reduced Lunches

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House passed 353 to 0 Monday a bill to guarantee free or reduced-price lunches for all needy school children. The vote came shortly after the Agriculture Department backed down on rules which would have squeezed a million children from the program.

The bill now goes to a conference committee to resolve differences between it and a less sweeping version passed Oct. 1 in the Senate.

The school-lunch program has become increasingly popular in Congress even with conservatives not prone to favor other social programs.

The fury of Congress was apparently greater than the Agriculture Department and the White House had gauged when the USDA in mid-August cut back the per-child luncheon subsidies to the states from an average of 46 to 35 cents per serving.

On Oct. 6, the USDA said it would change the per-child reimbursement scale more in line with what was asked by Congress—but in the process, the eligibility requirements were stiffened.

Previously, the federal government had reimbursed the states for all needy children certified by the states.

In some cases, the states permitted free or reduced-price lunches to children from families with incomes up to $4,500 or more.

The Oct. 6 USDA ruling said the federal government would heretofore only reimburse meals for children from families whose income was not above $3,940.

Last Friday the House Education Committee swiftly approved a bill to qualify all needy children for the program by whatever criteria the state sets, and setting a 46-cent minimum federal subsidy for each meal.

Kosygin Assaulted Outside Parliament

IN QUIETER MOMENTS

After all the arrival excitement died down Sunday, Soviet Premier Kosygin went for a stroll down the Sparks Mall in downtown Ottawa, accompanied by Royal Canadian Mounted Police and security guards. He returned to his hotel almost unnoticed. However, on Monday he was assaulted outside Canada's Parliament and prevented from falling to the ground by Prime Minister Trudeau who was walking beside him.

Administration Announces $2 Billion Farm Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin announced Monday the administration is prepared to spend up to $2 billion next year on farm subsidies aimed at reducing the output of livestock feed grain.

The estimate, an upper-range projection, would be $800 million more than Hardin said will be the cost of government feed grain controls this year.

Hardin said the stepup in subsidies is necessary to help boost farm income and head off rising surpluses of corn and other feed grains. Hardin said he doesn't expect the increased subsidies to have any significant effect on the price of food for humans.

This year, Hardin said, the feed program cost, including final settlements to farmers, will be about $1.2 billion.

The additional money will go mostly to pay farmers for taking more crop land from production next year.

This year, under looser regulations, farmers idled 18.2 million acres of feed-grain land. That represented 20 per cent of a farmer's feed-grain base acreage and was required of him to qualify for price supports and payments. No money was paid directly this year for idled feed land.

In 1972, farmers will have to remove from production 25 per cent of their feed base to qualify for benefits.

The goal, Hardin said, is to have farmers take 38 million acres from feed-grain production next year, more than double the total for 1971.

Next year's target is about the same as the idled feed acreage in 1970 under previous farm legislation.

The cause of the expanded subsidy program is this year's record crop of 5.4 billion bushels. That, together with a carryover from previous output, is much more than the country needs at this time.

Hijacker Surrenders, Releases Four Hostages

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP)—A hijacker who commandeered an airliner near Anchorage, Alaska, earlier in the day surrendered to authorities here Monday after releasing his four crew member hostages.

The crew members of the Wien Consolidated Airlines Boeing 737 were allowed to leave the plane after it returned to Vancouver International Airport about an hour after it had refueled and left the Canadian field, presumably for Mexico City and possibly Cuba.

The armed hijacker remained on the plane for a few minutes after releasing his hostages but then left the craft with a Royal Canadian Mounted Police sub-inspector.

Authorities had feared the hijacker had ordered the return to Vancouver to take over a larger plane.

What prompted his decision to surrender was not known immediately.

The FBI in Anchorage identified the hijacker as Dale Lavon Thomas, 29, formerly of Kodiak, Alaska. The agency said he had been convicted of manslaughter in a bar-room death six years ago.

A complaint charging Thomas with air piracy was filed before a U.S. Magistrate in Anchorage and bond of $50,000 was recommended.

The Wien Consolidated Airlines plane was hijacked 15 minutes after taking off from the Anchorage airport en route to Bethel, a native village at the mouth of Kuskokwim River.

The plane returned to Anchorage, where 30 passengers and a stewardess disembarked.

Forced to fly the hijacker to Vancouver were Capt. Don Peterson, a senior pilot with nearly 20 years service with Wien; Nancy Davis, a stewardess making her first flight with the airline; copilot Ray Miller, and Keith Forsgren, a flight deck officer.

Thomas was sentenced to 20 years in the death of Kenneth Cherry in a Kodiak bar Sept. 29, 1965.

Thomas was imprisoned at Leavenworth, Kan., and was transferred last Nov. 24 to an adult prison camp in Alaska from which he was paroled Aug. 23.

Don Everly, a Wien security official, said Thomas' bags were searched when a ticket agent became suspicious because of his behavior.

"He did fit the profile of a hijacker which raised a mental red flag to our ticket agent," Everly said.

Everly said the baggage search was fruitless and Thomas' person was not checked. The airline does not have a metal detector at its counter, he said.

Ralph Brumbaugh, a Wien vice president, said the hijacker had a small caliber automatic pistol that he used to hold the stewardess at gunpoint.

OTTAWA (AP)—A man shouting "Freedom for Hungary!" grabbed Alexei N. Kosygin by his suit coat and nearly threw the Soviet premier to the ground Monday outside Canada's Parliament.

Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau, walking alongside, stopped the 67-year-old premier from falling. Security police pounced on the assailant and hauled him away.

Kosygin's attacker said his name was Geza Matrai. The Royal Canadian Mounted police refused to confirm the identification.

In Toronto, however, a spokesman for the rightwing Edmund Burke Society said Matrai was a 27-year-old native Hungarian who was a member of the society and of the Canadian-Hungarian Freedom Fighters Association. The spokesman said the society was "very proud" of Matrai.

Trudeau said later he didn't think Kosygin was "as upset as I am ashamed." He called the incident "a very humiliating event for Canadians."

As the attacker leaped over a police barricade at Kosygin, another man in the crowd shouted: "Go home, Soviet pig!"

Kosygin's hair was mussed but he was not hurt and walked with Trudeau to a doorway of Parliament. He boarded a limousine there and was taken to his hotel.

"I apologized immediately," Trudeau told reporters. He said Kosygin did not respond, "but he didn't appear ruffled."

Security "certainly was not tight enough, since this did happen," the prime minister said in response to questions in the House of Commons.

A Jewish organization also protested Kosygin's visit, claiming Jews are mistreated in the Soviet Union.

An unidentified youth who carried a banner reading "Let my people go" was removed from the Commons gallery before he could unfurl it.

Earlier in the day, police discovered two dynamite bombs near the Soviet Embassy, a mile from Kosygin's hotel, and three men who described themselves as anti-Communists were taken into custody. Police also found 11 Molotov cocktails a block from the embassy in a park where 1,500 ethnic Ukrainians had demonstrated Sunday night as Kosygin arrived in Ottawa.

Trudeau, who was Kosygin's guest in Moscow last May, said "there was no excuse whatever" for such incidents in a democratic society. He said it "makes one ashamed" that some persons apparently took more notice of problems outside their country than of "exercising Canadian democratic rights and respecting the basic laws of our country."

In Moscow, the official Soviet news agency Tass made no mention of the attack in a two-paragraph report on Kosygin's Canadian visit. It said the premier's talks with Trudeau were "held in a friendly and sincere atmosphere" and involved "an

Bodies Of Corry Couple Found In Wreckage Of Light Plane

The bodies of a Corry man and his wife were found Monday in the wreckage of their light plane about 15 miles east of Buffalo.

The Erie County sheriff's office identified the victims as James D. Evers, 51 and Marie Evers, 54. Deputies said the plane crashed late Sunday night on the Roger Downey farm in the Town of Newstead, N.Y., about four miles northwest of Akron.

They said the single-engine, four-seat plane was approaching Buffalo International Airport for a refueling stop when it disappeared from the radar screen.

A search began late Sunday night, but fog settled in and forced a halt in the search.

It was learned they had decided after eating dinner in Corry Sunday to fly to Wilmington, Del., to visit Mrs. Evers' father who is critically ill. The accident happened on their return trip. Well-known in Corry, Mr. Evers was chief engineer of the former Aeroflow Dynamics Corp. in Corry and was employed at the General Electric Co. in Erie.

Three children survive. Donald Evers in the armed services in Massachusetts, James Evers, a student at Gannon College and Mrs. Leslie (Janice) Dodd Jr. of Corry.

Biological Warfare Complex Now Cancer Research Base

FREDERICK, Md. (AP)—President Nixon announced Monday the conversion of Ft. Detrick, once top-secret biological-warfare research facility, into a major peacetime base for the war against cancer.

He said he hopes scientists and doctors from all over the world will come to the big complex near here to share information in the effort to find a cure for cancer.

Nixon mentioned specifically the Soviet Union and said perhaps later scientists will come as well from mainland China.

The President helicoptered from the White House 45 miles to the rural countryside near Frederick to make his announcement before a crowd of some 500 employees and their families in front of the headquarters building on the 12,000-acre $86-million federal installation, which he said is one of the finest research facilities in the world. Germ-warfare weapons have been its specialty.

He drew applause when he said some of the nation's best scientists had been working here on weapons of war, but now there would be scientists "working toward saving life rather than destroying life."

It is anticipated that many of the scientists who have been working at Ft. Detrick will be able to continue in the cancer research program.

The new cancer center will be operated by the National Cancer Institute and a private contractor will get the job of running the program. Seven buildings, including more than a half million square feet of laboratory space, will be made available.

The White House said some of the facilities will be operating immediately, others in the next eight months, with $6 million going into the cost this year.

It is hoped to get the Ft. Detrick Laboratories fully converted by the early months of 1972, and at full capacity it will employ some 600 scientific and technical personnel with a program costing from $15 million to $20 million a year.

Nixon called this "a very significant day" and said that the conversion of Ft. Detrick not only would affect the people who live in this area but would have "an enormous effect on the future of the people of the United States and the people of the world."

Ft. Detrick until two years ago "one of the most highly classified, top-secret facilities in the United States," Nixon said, "being used for research in biological warfare."

He said this occasion marks another chapter in the realization of mankind's dream "of turning swords into plowshares and spears into pruning-hooks—of changing the implements of war into instruments of peace."

Mrs. Jessie Swain Girling Is Dead At Age Of 109

One of Warren's most noted centenarians, 109-year-old Mrs. Jessie Swain Girling, an active historian until her death and who remembered seeing Abraham Lincoln's face, died at 3:25 p.m. Monday at the Brennan-Root Nursing Home where she had been a guest for the past five years.

She was born September 15, 1862 at Lockport, N.Y., a daughter of George and Cordelia Swain. Since 1939 she had lived with her great-niece, Miss Carla Mae Gay at 118 N. Carver st.

Her father introduced her to western Pennsylvania when he came to Pittsburgh City to look over the potentials of the fabulous oil boomtown. Her grandfather, Isaac Swain, an early settler and a leading citizen of the Niagara Frontier, was responsible for her life-long interest in history.

She published a paper on the history of Niagara County based on his exploits and experiences.

She was a graduate of Buffalo Teachers College and spent 46 years of her life teaching in the schools of New York State.

On the occasion of her 107th birthday, she received a letter from President Richard M. Nixon congratulating her as a truly remarkable centenarian.

House Makes Some Changes In Proposed New Divorce Bill

HARRISBURG (AP) — The House made some technical changes in the divorce bill Monday during a session marked by a three-hour recess that had some Republicans complaining.

Majority Leader K. Leroy Irvis, D-Allegheny, said he expected the bill to come to a vote Tuesday.

The major provision of the bill in addition of a new ground for divorce — a one-year separation followed by both parties mutually agreeing to termination of the marriage.

Catholic opponents have argued that the legislation, if passed, would cause a further breakdown in the marriage institution.

Crux of Monday's amendments, sponsored by Rep. William H. Yohn Jr., R-Montgomery, and passed on the floor 167-12, would require that certain indignities that might legally be used as a ground for divorce would apply only to an "innocent and injured spouse."

Prior to consideration of the bill, Rep. Joseph W. Dorsey, R-Delaware, assailed the Democrats for delaying the session for nearly three hours. "This has been typical of this operation for the past 2 1/2 years," he said, adding it was a "disgrace the way you people (Democrats) are running this state."

Democratic Caucus Chairman Harry A. Englehart, Jr., Cambria County, assured Dorsey the Democrats were not trying to waste his time, that they had been in caucus for most of the recess.

Rep. James J. Gallen, R-Berks, accused the Democratic leadership of making "bedlam" the hallmark of this House.

"Too often the members of this House meet promptly at the hour agreed upon for convening and then are forced to sit idly by for additional long hours before the session actually begins."

Meanwhile, noisy "group" discussions — a usual occurrence in the House, were carried on during the 15 minutes of heated remarks. The House then got down to scheduled business.

The Senate did not pass any major legislation. Majority Democrats, however, decided Gov. Shapp's nominations for secretary of environmental resources and public utility commissioner would be voted on Tuesday. A two-thirds vote is needed.

The governor submitted the nomination of Dr. Maurice K. Goddard as environmental secretary last January. Since then, he has served as acting secretary of environmental resources.

Sen. Edwin G. Holl, R-Montgomery, has voiced objections to Goddard because of differences over a dam project in his district.

The GOP senators must decide whether to take a unified position with Holl or allow everyone to vote his conscience.

With Democrats holding a slim 26-24 majority, Republican votes will be needed to get Goddard confirmed.

Both Republicans and Democrats said they had no objections to Carter, nominated last April. Even with Carter's confirmation, the Public Utility Commission will remain Republican controlled. The current lineup is four Republicans, no Democrats.

The House also:

— Moved in place for a vote a bill providing raises for officers in counties of the second through eighth class.

— Passed 184-0 a bill broadening the definition of shoplifting to include goods exhibited as well as goods for sale. It went to the governor for his signature.

Arraigned For Larceny

William T. Prendergast, 47, of Elm st. was jailed last night on charges of larceny according to Justice of the Peace Raymond Gilmore.

Gilmore said Warren Borough police apprehended Prendergast after it was reported he took a truck belonging to Lewis's Market from the parking lot in the Penn-Franklin Shopping Center on Pennsylvania ave. east.

He was arraigned on charges of larceny of the vehicle and of currency and coins. Bail was set at $500 cash or $1,000 property.

No further details were available from borough police.

Escapes Injury

An 18-year old Youngsville man escaped injury at 9:15 p.m. last night when his small car was demolished when it plunged down a 50-foot embankment and landed on its top in Tionesta Creek.

Richard Hill of 309 College st. was traveling on Rt. 666 some three miles south of the intersection of Rt. 948 when he lost control of his compact foreign car. Trooper John Herzog III estimated damage at $2100.

Lost In Fire

A pick-up truck owned by Larry Slagle of Warren was destroyed by fire at 11:06 p.m. Sunday about a mile north of Russell on Rt. 62. Slagle was hauling a large boat when the fire started. Firemen were unable to save the vehicle. Two dozen firemen answered the call, according to Chief Charles Morrison.

Printz Store In Franklin Looted Over Weekend

Plumer M. Printz, president of the Printz clothing store chain, said Monday that his firm suffered a "substantial loss" over the weekend when thieves broke into the Printz store in Franklin and made off with thousands of dollars worth of men's coats, suits and slacks.

The robbery, which Printz called a "professional job", came only months after a similar theft at Warren's Style Shop that is still unsolved.

The Oil City Derrick published an unconfirmed report Monday morning that the eventual loss figure could add up to "tens of thousands of dollars." Though inventory reports are still being tabulated, Printz claims the final figure will not be nearly that high.

"They took some coats, some suits and very few pairs of pants," he said. "They didn't clear out our whole store."

The thieves apparently entered the store through a door. Police said a lock was removed and then replaced when the intruders left. The burglary occurred sometime between 10 p.m. Saturday and 6:30 a.m. Sunday, police felt—between the time of the last police check and the time the burglary was discovered.

Wesley Rarer, manager of the store, said some nearby residents reported hearing noises in the store around 4 a.m.—a time police theorize the burglars would have found ideal.

It was the biggest burglary in Franklin in recent years and the largest in Venango County since $150,000 was taken from a Reno home last March.

Printz contacted Monday in his Jamestown, N.Y., office, compared the heist to one suffered by the Printz Company's Warren store several years ago.

He said pros from a "major city" cased the store for a year before hitting it. "They can clean you out in 15 or 20 minutes and, if they handle it right, never get caught."

Warren Schools To Miss Convention

Some 200 high school students from over 90 of Pennsylvania's 520 school districts will join an expected 1,000 school directors and educators this week in Pittsburgh for a three-day program. "Education is for Kids."

The 75th statewide convention of the Pennsylvania School Boards Association will open on Wednesday. It will be the first time in the nation that a program involving students has been arranged by a state school board organization.

According to Howard

Thompson, superintendent of schools, the Warren County School District will not be represented either by directors, educators or students. Thompson said it was impossible to fit the convention into an already heavy schedule.

PSBA President Mrs. Virginia Jeffers said regarding the student participation: "Education is for students. That's why school boards, teachers and administrators exist. To serve youngsters. I'm of the opinion that we in public education do not do enough to get across how public education functions in this nation. We need to talk with the consumers of public education—the kids."

Thursday morning, Oct. 21, the panel discussion will be titled: "Whose Marbles Are You Playing With?" This discussion will kick off the student portion of the program.

Thursday following a special luncheon featuring Sam Huff, all-time, all-pro football NFL great, students will participate in a special workshop on student rights and responsibilities.

Student delegates will wrap up their activities with a "rap session" Friday morning following a major presentation on drug abuse by John Finlator, deputy director of the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs, U.S. Dept. of Justice.

With 23 votes needed to reverse last June's 219-176 vote instructing House conferees to oppose a similar amendment, the AP count showed these nine will switch if the issue is voted on again: Democratic Reps. Pike of New York; and Harold Runnels of New Mexico.

Rep. G. William Whitehurst, R-Va., said he probably will switch and Rep. Paul Rogers, D-Fla., William B. Widnall, R-N.J., and Henry P. Smith III, R-N.Y., said their votes could go either way.

NPC Wins Approval For New Warehouse

New Process Company was granted approval to begin work on their proposed warehouse-distribution center Monday by the Warren County Zoning Hearing Board.

NPC plans to build a 350,000-square-foot, one-story building on a 166-acre industrially zoned lot in Pleasant Twp. that the firm has purchased east of Route 62 at the Irvine bridge.

Recently the land was rezoned from R-2 to "I" by the county commissioners.

The new plant will employ approximately 650 persons, according to William F. Clinger Jr., attorney for NPC.

William T. Hunter, a representative of the Austin Co., architecture and engineering firm from Cleveland, Ohio, said construction would begin immediately.

Already some excavation has begun on the property.

In other activity the zoning board denied two requests and tabled a third.

Thomas K. Bearfield was denied his application to place a mobile home in an R-2 area on Farm Lane rd. in Pleasant Twp. and Raymond J. Briggs was denied the right to build a horse shelter only 12 feet from a neighbor's boundary near Russell.

Bearfield did not appear at the hearing to support his request, so the board automatically denied it since mobile homes are not ordinarily permitted in an R-2 area.

Briggs wanted to build his shelter only 12 feet from the property of Ed Branstrom in Russell. No objection was voiced, but the board looked at the property and decided the

Prime Minister Indira Gandhi Calls Border Situation Grave

(c) N.Y. Times News Service
NEW DELHI—Prime Minister Indira Gandhi says the military situation on the borders between India and Pakistan is "quite grave."

"We certainly will do nothing to provoke an attack or to start any hostilities, but we have to be alive to our interests and safeguard our security," the prime minister said in an hour-long interview.

"Unfortunately," she added, "Pakistan's record has been one of hatred and desperation. The military regime has let loose a war on its own people, and there is no knowing what it will do next."

Mrs. Gandhi cited "threatening statements from Pakistan which we feel cannot be entirely ignored." She mentioned in particular a speech last week by President Agha Mohammed Yahya Khan, in which he accused India of "feverish military preparations" and called on his people to meet the threat as "a nation of 120 million Mujahids of Islam, whose hearts are pulsating with the love of the Holy Prophet."

The prime minister flatly ruled out any peace talks at this time between India and Pakistan, contending that the Pakistanis would first have to resolve the East Pakistan crisis by negotiating a settlement with the elected representatives there.

For nearly seven months, the Pakistan army, composed almost entirely of West Pakistanis, has been trying to crush the Bengali independence movement in East Pakistan, which is led by the Awami League party. The party, which won a national majority in last December's elections, was outlawed by the military regime last March 25.

The military repression since then has sent millions of East Pakistani refugees fleeing into India. The exodus is continuing, and the Indians estimate that nearly 9.5 million refugees have crossed the border.

Mrs. Gandhi was asked whether she felt there was a "breaking point" to the economic and social pressures placed on India by the refugees, a point beyond which India might feel compelled to take military action against Pakistan to halt the influx.

"Well, actually, I would say we've already reached it. But this doesn't mean that we are going to crack under it," she replied.

"We certainly want a quick solution but we don't want to do anything which creates greater problems," she went on. "As you know, we have been extremely restrained. I cannot, even by giving deep thought to the matter, think of a single country who would have shown such restraint and patience in the face of such grave provocation."

During the last few weeks, both countries have reinforced their troops on their long eastern and western borders, and the spectre has been raised of another war between India and Pakistan—they last fought in 1965 over Kashmir.

Still, although Mrs. Gandhi called the situation grave, she indicated no change as yet in her plans to leave on a three-week foreign tour starting Oct. 24, during which she will visit six western capitals, including London and Washington.

The prime minister, who was interviewed in her office at the government secretariat, seemed irritated when asked about the military assistance India has been giving the insurgent forces of Bangla Desh (Bengal nation), the name the independence movement uses for East Pakistan.

But she did not categorically deny that India was helping the insurgents. She said: "Perhaps you know they have many helpers, mostly their own people all over the world. Also, many avenues are open to them." She did not elaborate.

Later in this interview, Mrs. Gandhi said: "Whether they have arms or not, nobody can suppress the struggle."

The Indian prime minister was critical of United States policy on the East Pakistan crisis, saying that the Americans "don't take a very long-range view."

"Propping up the Pakistani military regime in Bangla Desh," she said, "is not necessarily strengthening Pakistan in any way."

GOV. SHAPP PREDICTS

State Can Increase Services Without Boosting Taxes

HARRISBURG (AP)—Gov. Shapp predicted Monday the state could increase services in the 1972-73 fiscal year without boosting taxes.

The governor commented at a cabinet meeting that was opened to the news media. It was the second cabinet session opened to newsmen by Shapp, and the first to allow television film cameras. Previous governors held closed cabinet meetings, administration officials claimed.

"The expectations are there will be no new tax programs for 1972-73," Shapp said.

"The passage of the recently enacted revenue program (mainly the income tax) is not a green light for spending more money, but a caution for tightening the belt. Revenue estimates available to me make it clear that we will barely survive a deficit in 1972-73 because of mandated increases alone."

The next fiscal year runs from July 1, 1972 through June 30, 1973. Cabinet members must submit their spending requests by Nov. 1, Shapp said he would then study the requests, and submit his spending plan to the legislature by March 1.

"The old way of doing things will not be satisfactory," Shapp said. "Too often, in the past, it has been the custom to take the previous year's budget and simply add automatic increases for each departmental program. No thought was given to a reevaluation of the worth of each of these programs in itself. What was already funded was assumed to be necessary. This year, there is no program safe from scrutiny."

The 1971-72 budget, which runs through next June 30, totals $3.2 billion.

Ronald G. Lench, secretary of administration, explained to the cabinet a new directive on austerity. He said only 50 per cent of the new state positions authorized in the 1971-72 budget could be filled automatically by the various departments. The remainder can be filled only with specific authorization by the Office of the Budget.

State agencies also will be allowed to fill positions which become vacant from Monday on. Requests to fill positions that became vacant prior to the directive will need specific approval from the Office of Administration.

Shapp said there were 12,000 vacancies among the 110,000 authorized state employee positions.

Asked to assess the "open" cabinet meeting, one department head replied, "It was a sincere effort, but the meeting was somewhat stilted. In the closed meetings some of us have differing viewpoints, that become arguable."

There were no conflicts at Monday's meeting.

U.S. Preparing To Cede Territory To Panama

(c) N.Y. Times News Service

WASHINGTON—The United States is preparing to cede to Panama substantial territory, commercial concessions and some legal jurisdiction in the 500-square-mile Panama Canal Zone, according to American and Latin diplomats.

After 17 meetings since June 29, United States and Panamanian negotiators here are reported to be making steady progress toward a new canal treaty to replace the 1903 accord that gave the United States a lease on the canal zone "in perpetuity."

According to informed officials, the United States is eager to shed its "colonialist" image in Panama—and throughout much of Latin America—by making concessions on all but two key issues.

First is the right to operate and defend the strategic waterway, built by the United States for $387 million and opened to world traffic in 1914.

Second, the United States, given congressional approval, will insist on its right either to improve the existing canal with a third set of locks at an estimated cost of $1.5 billion or build a new sea-level canal across Panama for an estimated $3 billion. The latter would take 15 years to build and 60 years to amortize.

A representative panel has recommended that either one course or the other be adopted before the year 2000.

In the background is a sense of rising expectation in Panama, spurred by anti-United States riots in 1966 and 1964. Four Americans and 22 Panamanians were killed in the 1964 riots. Panama broke off diplomatic relations with the United States in protest.

The Panamanian goal, according to well-informed Latin sources, is to leave the United States with full rights to operate and defend, as well as improve or supplement, the canal—although not necessarily the full 500-square-mile zone around it—in a treaty with a fixed time limit. This would end the exclusive United States rights "in perpetuity." Panama also is demanding increased economic returns from the canal fees.

The 1903 treaty, signed two weeks after the Republic of Panama had broken away from Colombia and had been recognized by the United States, did not give the United States "sovereignty" over the Canal Zone.

It leased to the United States for the building of a canal a strip 10 miles wide and 50 miles from the Atlantic to the Pacific. The rental price to Panama at the time was $10 million down and $250,000 a year.

The 1903 treaty gave the United States the "power and authority" within this zone which the United States would possess and exercise as if it were the sovereign of the territory.

At the time the United States Secretary of State, John Hay, is said to have remarked that the United States had obtained a treaty "very satisfactory to the United States and we must confess not so advantageous to Panama."

Now the United States and Panamanian governments are reported agreed in principle that the 1903 "in perpetuity" provision must be dropped. They are said to have agreed also that the total U.S. jurisdiction—including commercial monopolies—in the Canal Zone deprives Panama of needed income and violates her sovereignty.

"We're going to turn unused areas in the zone and lots of commercial operations—piers, movie houses, commissaries and so forth—over to Panamanians," said one United States source. "But we're going to retain control of what we need to operate and defend the canal—or a new one if it gets built—for a very long time; maybe 50, 60 years."

This source said that under the new treaty the United States would gradually cede to Panama legal jurisdiction over many U.S. private activities inside the Canal Zone that now are exempt from Panamanian laws.

Panamanian regimes have long complained that the zone is a "government within a government" in which Americans with no direct contact either with the operation of the canal itself or with the United States military forces guarding it enjoy extraterritorial privileges.

Whither Democrats?

While President Nixon is admittedly having "poll" trouble, those who know the real Dick are no more than mildly concerned. For they have been around him long enough to know that he never has been dependent on "charisma" to get the vote, but depends on his personal competence and record to carry him through. And they have confidence that by 1972 he will have established these virtues beyond a reasonable doubt in the public's mind.

They point with pride to his winding down of the war, his enlightened position of foreign policy, and emphatically declare that in spite of what his adversaries say, he has great compassion for the poor, black, and alienated. They are particularly proud of his stand against "bandstanding," a familiar practice of some who have opposed him in political campaigns of the past, and some who will undoubtedly oppose him in campaigns of the future.

Campaign managers have always fretted over the Nixon image and his lack of charisma, but he has managed to pull through on several occasions by simply being Dick Nixon. His argument has always been that he is not a glad-hander, nor the handsomest person to grace the television tube, and glamor he has not. He wants to be judged as a practical person with enough commonsense to stick to the issues at hand.

It will be interesting to see what type of candidate the Democrats come up with as opposition. Will they fear the Nixon aggressive and practical attitude to such an extent that they will also seek a candidate of similar qualifications, or will they nominate some likeable fellow with a handsome white-tooth smile to ingratiate himself with the men and charm the ladies?

This is the $64,000 question of the 1972 election. And it will be interesting just to sit back and watch the reaction of the American public to the answer which will be provided when the political mentors of the Democratic Party meet in Miami. Can they outguess the Nixon strategy? We'll just have to wait to see.

Labor's Grumbling Irony

By Mason Denison

Pennsylvania News Service
HARRISBURG — It is ironic that organized labor should be waging a running battle with a state administration over the question of "bargaining" in behalf of state employees — when the administration in question happens to be a Democratic administration.

After all, the Democratic Party over the years has professed loudly, emphatically and stoutly its "friendship and affinity for the working man" — referring to organized labor in particular.

But now, irony of ironies, with a new public employees bargaining law on the Keystone State statute books — thanks in the main to the concerted efforts of Democrats when they were in the minority and not in control of an administration on Capitol Hill — organized labor is finding itself running into not-so-pleasant back-stiffening in its "bargaining" with the incumbent Democratic Shapp Administration in behalf of some 17,000 state trades and labor employees.

It has reached the point now where the bargaining agent, the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, AFL-CIO, has asked for the intervention of a mediator in the union's contract negotiations with the State!

The union has been "negotiating" since August with the State (theoretically pro-labor Democratic administration) with no final contract even in sight.

For an administration, or at least the political party, that over the minority years professed to be the great and good friend of labor, this impasse is as intriguing as it is interesting.

What organized labor is running into, now that their great and good friends are in the power seat and actually able to do something (but with the shoe on the other foot) is perhaps succinctly epitomized in this comment the other day by Gerald W. McEntee, AFSCME area director:

"They've (the State) offered us only a 15 per cent increase over an 18 months period, which wouldn't even make up for the increases in living costs since the last time these workers got a raise in August of 1969."

The union has run into other stumbling blocks in dealing with their (pro-labor) Democratic brethren on Capitol Hill, including Blue Shield and Blue Cross coverage, sick leave, overtime provisions, and a "just cause for dismissal" clause.

On the latter point, the AFSCME's McEntee commented rather testily that the State's negotiators "go numb every time we bring up a 'just cause for dismissal' clause in negotiations. Literally every labor agreement I've ever seen has 'just cause' language, but thus far the State just won't acknowledge that."

Such chastisement against the "friend of labor"?

And, when the Pennsylvania Labor Relations Board rebuffed the (Democratic) Shapp Administration earlier in the month and ordered that some 1,500 PennDOT highway workers be put back on the payroll after the administration firing, organized labor's McEntee shafted His (Democratic) Excellency again when in obvious irritation he said:

"We know for a fact that nearly 3,000 vacancies exist in the Department of Transportation. There is no problem in finding jobs for these guys — the only problem is with the Governor, who just won't face up to the fact that he's been found guilty of unfair labor practices and has to take corrective measures."

Such chastisement against the "friends of labor"?

It's a simple matter to promise great pies in the skies to gain support — when you have neither the means nor the power to actually bake the pies.

Keystone State Democrats over the years of their "minority servitude" when they enjoyed no more power and authority than the grasshoppers on Capitol Hill, had a penchant for sky-pies—but now that the shoe is on the other foot and they have no choice but to face up to more practical realities, it all becomes something of an awkward and red-faced ball game, as current developments clearly point up!

"WHEN SPIRO COMES TO GREECE, I HOPE HE NOTICES OUR COLORFUL NATIVE COSTUMES."

Labor Asking Congress To Act

By ROBERT A. BARNES

Congressional Quarterly

WASHINGTON — Labor leaders at odds with the Republican Administration over wage, price and profits policy want Congress to take over the economy.

A look at the members and power structure of this Congress shows why.

"We have absolutely no faith in the ability of President Nixon to successfully manage the economy of this nation for the benefit of the majority of its citizens," the AFL-CIO executive council said recently.

That was after the wage-price freeze which labor condemned as unfair.

It was before the latest set over Pay Board independence. Labor made then what some deemed a successful show of strength. But union leaders made it plain they weren't changing their earlier call for congressional action.

Sympathy from Congress

Labor strategists know they may expect more sympathy from Congress than from the White House.

In the battle over the economy, the labor lobby's choice is clear:

+A Republican administration which AFL-CIO spokesmen say has ignored or rejected their reiterated proposals. Or,

+A Congress in which: (a) Labor-endorsed individuals hold a whip hand on three of the four committees responsible for the economic program. (b) Individuals whom unions call their friends hold solid control of the House and are powerful in the Senate.

Many are up for renomination and reelection. They need labor help last time around; they'll need it next time.

The AFL-CIO executive council, backed by the Teamsters and UAW, said on Oct. 12 it would continue to oppose the President's tax measures in Congress and continue "our fight for full employment which is the key answer to America's problems."

Those fights will center largely in and around Congress, where power centers in the majority Democratic Party. Labor-backed members, in turn, are solidly in the ascendancy in much of the Democratic power structure on Capitol Hill.

Friends on Committees

The committees involved in the tax and economic stabilization bills are the House Ways and Means and Senate Finance — (tax bill); and House Banking and Currency and Senate Banking, Housing and Urban Affairs (stabilization bill).

Organized labor can look to many friends among the leadership in all but the Senate Finance Committee. For example:

Ways and Means: The tax-writing committee is doubly important since its Democratic members comprise the Democratic Committee on Committees which makes House committee assignments.

Eleven of the 15 Democratic seats are held by Representatives who were endorsed in the 1970 elections by COPE, the AFL-CIO's political arm. They include the top five Democrats below Chairman Wilbur D. Mills. Four voted 100 percent with COPE's selected issues for ratings in 1970: four others, 83 percent or above.

House Banking and Currency: COPE-endorsed members hold 17 of the 22 Democratic seats, including the chairmanship and 12 of the top 14 in committee seniority. They hold six of the seven subcommittee chairmanships.

Of the 15 of these who served in 1970, 12 had 100 percent COPE ratings. Two others had 83 percent or above.

Senate Situation

Senate Banking, Housing and Urban Affairs: Of the eight Democrats, COPE endorsed six in their latest election. All five of these who served in 1970 received 100 percent COPE ratings. In all, COPE counts nine of the 15 committee members its friends.

Senate Finance: Of nine Democrats, four voted 100 percent with COPE's rating positions in 1970: a fifth, 75 percent.

House: COPE-endorsed individuals hold the posts of Speaker, Majority Leader, Majority Whip and secretary of the Democratic Caucus. They hold 20 of the 26 posts on the Steering Committee, including the chairmanship, and nine of the 10 Democratic seats on the Rules Committee, excluding the chairmanship.

Senate: Majority Leader Mike Mansfield received an 83 percent COPE rating in 1970. Frank E. Moss, secretary of the Democratic Conference, rated 100 percent, and Majority Whip Robert C. Byrd, 50 percent.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round Jack Anderson

AGAIN, YOU READ IT HERE FIRST

Jack Anderson reported on September 26 that President Nixon's campaign committee was "analyzing every available poll, statistic, report and speculation on the youth vote." Anderson gave the committee's confidential findings, including the fact that "youth registration doesn't vary more than 5 to 10 per cent from the adult registration" and that the President's proposed Peking trip had increased his "favorable" rating with young people. On October 12, the committee released its findings, which completely confirmed Anderson's story.

WASHINGTON — Rufus Youngblood, hero of the John F. Kennedy shooting, has been hounded out of the Secret Service. His heroism in shielding Lyndon Johnson from the assassin's bullets, ironically, marked him as a "Johnson man" with the Republicans who inherited the White House.

Actually, he served for six years under President Eisenhower on the White House detail. But on that tragic November 22, 1963 in Dallas, he was guarding the Vice President. When assassin Lee Harvey Oswald opened fire on the Presidential procession, Youngblood bolted over the front seat and threw his body on top of Johnson.

Youngblood's first reaction was that the shooting might be part of a plot against the lives of all America's top leaders. So he hustled LBJ into an emergency room of Dallas hospital, guarded him with a drawn revolver and then rushed him secretly to Air Force One.

In his memoirs, Johnson recalls: "Agent Youngblood's quick reaction was as brave an act as I have ever seen anyone perform. When a man, without a moment's thought or hesitation, places himself between you and a possible assassin's bullet, you know you have seen courage. And you never forget it."

For his bravery, Youngblood received the Treasury Department's "exceptional service" award.

After Richard Nixon moved into the White House, however, the new crowd considered Youngblood too close to the former President. Nixon aides suggested quietly to the Secret Service that he be moved out of the White House.

He was given a desk across the street at Secret Service headquarters. Thereafter, he was subjected to petty harassments until he quietly resigned last June after reaching eligibility for his 20-year pension. At 48, he was at the peak of his career.

Youngblood doesn't believe President Nixon personally had anything to do with his treatment. "President Nixon is a gentleman," Youngblood told us. He refused to comment on whether Nixon's aides, on their own authority, had put the squeeze on him. Nor was he critical of the Secret Service. "The Secret Service is a good outfit," he said. "I don't want to say anything that would hurt it."

Footnote: Youngblood has been sounded out, we learned, about the police chief's job in his native Atlanta after the present chief, Herbert Jenkins, reaches the mandatory retirement age in January. But again, Youngblood wouldn't comment. "It would be unethical for me to discuss it," he said.

SENATE SAMSON

The once gentle Senator Phil Hart, D-Mich., who has been as ferocious as Samson since he grew the Senate's first beard, recently stormed into Boston and accused the banks of decreeing where poor blacks could buy houses.

He charged that Boston's Brahmin bankers, in cahoots with real estate operators and federal officials, staked out the neighborhoods where homes would be sold to the poor. The appearance of low-income blacks would panic the home owners into selling out cheaply to unscrupulous real estate men who would turn around and sell the homes at fancy profits to the blacks.

This black-busting was financed, Hart showed, by the banks. The result was the creation of instant ghettos, followed by foreclosures on federally-insured loans. Now Hart's Senate subcommittee has been quietly approached by city officials or civic groups in New York, Philadelphia, Kansas City and Dayton, requesting him to repeat the same act in their towns.

All four cities have found, or at least strongly suspect, a backyard alliance between banks, loan companies, real estate firms and the Federal Housing Administration.

In Dayton, one of the nation's most promising all-metro congresses has hammered out a fine housing plan. A Dayton Community Development official, Joseph Wine, explained why it was delayed.

"We have the same hang-ups as in Boston," he said. "The FHA is bigoted. It has traditionally been in bed with the real estate operators and the banks. They've red-lined the areas where the poor and the blacks can live."

SKINNING THE POOR

In New York City, A. W. Hessel, a city officer running the LaGuardia Neighborhood Action Program, told us that private mortgage firms are breaking up a stable integrated neighborhood and skinning the poor blacks who are moving in, just as in Boston.

In Philadelphia, Assistant Housing Director Ivan Gluckman also asked Hart to investigate. Gluckman explained to us that the Philadelphia bankers are more subtle. "They don't fleece the people with high interest rates," he said. "They loan money to the loan companies that do. Then the lenders decide what sections of Philadelphia live and what sections die."

The most outraged comment came from an attractive grandmother, Ruth Schechter, president of the Greater Kansas City Council on Religion and Race. "Either the FHA is in cahoots with the real estate interests or it's just plain stupid," she charged. "The foreclosures are causing a panic; the FHA inspections are full of—; and the poor are getting bilked by the real brokers and mortgage companies."

ART BUCHWALD

TV Crime Is Up

WASHINGTON — The first crime figures for the fall television season are now in, and it has been confirmed that there were increases in all categories of crime in prime time from rape to involuntary homicide.

For example, there were twice as many murders committed on the networks in September of this year than in all of 1971. Aggravated assaults were up 176 per cent, and robbery rose 320 per cent, if you include the reruns of old James Cagney movies.

The report indicated that while guns were still the chief weapons in television crime, writers were introducing more sophisticated methods of doing away with victims. These included holding their heads under sewer water, throwing gasoline on them and setting them afire, pushing them into bubbling vats of molasses and running them down in 1938 Buicks in dark alleys.

A spokesman for the criminal division of television broadcasting said, "It's true that there has been an upsurge of crime on TV as compared to last year, but I would like to point out that despite the increase, every crime committed on one of our shows has been solved in 90 minutes or less."

The spokesman was asked why most of the crimes this year were solved by private investigators and not by the police. He said, "The reason for this is that the private eye, as we like to call him, has more flexibility than a city detective. A private eye doesn't have to worry about such things as applying for a search warrant, using brutality on a suspect, lying to the police or making out with the wife of the victim."

"The recent Supreme Court rulings have made it impossible for us to use the city police in our shows other than in supporting roles or for comic relief."

"Why do the police in all TV crime shows arrive on the scene of the crime five minutes AFTER the private detectives?"

"We have found from experience that if the police arrive late, it gives the private eye an opportunity to find the needed evidence that will lead him to the killer. If the police arrived at the same time as the private eye, they would find the evidence first, and then you would have no show."

A reporter asked the spokesman if he were concerned that there is more violence on television than ever before.

"We're always concerned with violence, and we try not to overdo it. But at the same time there are just so many ways you can kill somebody, and the more imaginative the crime, the more the public will respond. The one thing that has all the criminals on TV worried is that they will become predictable."

"Can we expect a new TV crime wave in 1972?" a reporter asked.

"It's too early to say. Perhaps when the ratings are in, we'll know how much crime the public will stand. I personally predict there will probably be fewer family murders, and we may have more crazed killers in '72."

"Why more crazed killers?"

"The TV writers are running out of plots. When you have a crazed killer, you don't need any motivation for his crime. He does it because he's crazy. You can't imagine how that simplifies a story line."

"What happens if the crime shows don't get high ratings?"

The spokesman looked steely eyed at the questioner and rasped, "Then we'll kill them."

By William F. Buckley Jr.

quite a few men, and that I am one of them, who have never even flirted with the notion that women are inferior, and perhaps that is why the glaze comes over our eyes when we come across the diatribes of some of the ladies who, having rejected the hearth, assent only to the driving of Mack trucks. Miss Gloria Steinem is the most conspicuous of them, and I read now, belatedly, the Commencement address she delivered last spring at her alma mater, Smith College.

Miss Steinem reminisced about what it was like to be a student at Smith during the fifties, in an age of "racist and sexist values." She said that she was given the impression that she was "maybe even biologically and therefore immutably inferior — unlike black men whom (sic) one insisted were just as good." Her teachers should have confined themselves to pointing out that Miss Steinem was merely grammatically inferior.

She told of consulting her tutors about the advisability of going to law school, and of being told "Why study three extra years and end up in the back room of some law firm doing research and typing, when you can graduate from Smith College and do research and typing right away?" — a reflection, I would say, on the lady or gentleman who gave the advice, which sounds especially strange to the ear during a season when the President of the United States is considering two women for the Supreme Court, both of whom went to law school much before Miss Steinem graduated from Smith.

Miss Steinem's war against racism and sexism finds her saying things which are, curiously, well — racist, even as the demands recently for Black Studies programs have been, many of them, racist. But the lady's logic has never been her principal contribution to the scene. Having told us that she was brought up to feel biologically inferior as a woman, she then says, "We (ladies) have been discovering, in all areas of academic study and personal experience, that the so-called masculine-feminine differences are largely societal, not biological." Well, biological inferiority in the sense that Miss Steinem uses the term was never alleged; biological differentiation, as she now uses the term, is not an allegation but a fact, the elimination of which not even a Constitutional Amendment can accomplish. But to such lengths does she go in attempting to do so, that she finds herself talking about so-called abnormal sexual behavior, whatever that is.

Her notion is that history shows that all our dread institutions resulted from the sudden discovery of paternity, after five thousands years of gynocracy. It was that discovery that led, for instance, to "the idea of ownership, . . . of property and of children, the origin of marriage (which was really locking women up long enough to make sure who the father was) . . . the notion that the state owns the body of a woman, a notion we still see in our abortion laws." This kind of thing is painful enough at a Commencement address. That kind of thing armed with a Constitutional Convention is enough to cause us all to go home to mother.

The Wage-Price Freeze

By The Internal Revenue Service

This column of questions and answers on the Wage and Price Freeze is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service. The column answers questions most frequently asked about the Wage and Price Freeze announced August 15 by President Nixon.

Q—My employer is transferring me to a higher cost-of-living area. It has been the policy of my company to increase the pay of employees transferred to such areas. Can I receive this increase?

A—Yes. However, your employer must be able to document the existence of such a plan prior to the freeze, and must not increase the differential during the freeze.

Q—Prior to August 15, my company scheduled a profit-sharing program for its employees. Can the program be implemented during the freeze?

A—No. A company's previously scheduled profit-sharing program cannot be implemented during the freeze. All other fringe benefits, including expense accounts, commissions, discounts, stock options, payments for deferred compensation, etc. are also frozen.

Your Credit Union Insurance

By Sylvia Porter

Are you aware that the vast majority of Federally-chartered credit unions plus a small percentage of state-chartered credit unions are insured up to $20,000 per shareholder's account under a Federal insurance system? That now your credit union account can come under Federal insurance just as your bank deposit and your savings and loan association account can be protected under their own insurance system?

Are you aware that this insurance began only about 10 months ago and that the law under which credit unions can be Federally insured is just one year old today?

Though you may know all this, I did not — not until one of you asked me a question about the safety of his funds in a small state-chartered credit union. I started to give an off-hand, casual answer, stopped, said, "I don't know, but I'll find out for you," made a few phone calls — and caught up with what, to me, was a new story.

To give it to you in briefest summary:

—The Federal Share Insurance Law was signed by President Nixon on Oct. 19, 1970. All Federally-chartered credit unions were given one year in which to qualify for insurance. Credit unions began to be insured under the law on Jan. 4, 1971. State-chartered unions can apply for the insurance and get it if they maintain the same reserves as the Federally-chartered unions.

—As of Aug. 31, the last reporting date, there were 12,767 Federal credit unions. Of these, 11,263 had been approved for insurance — leaving a fat 1,504 in the position of noncompliance.

—As of that same date, there were 10,600 state-chartered credit unions. Of these, only 600 had been approved for insurance, leaving an enormous 10,000 not protected by Federal insurance.

—Only one state, South Carolina, has a mandatory law for Federal insurance. Massachusetts requires that all credit unions in the state be insured either by Federal or state insurance.

—An estimated 12,553,000 of you are members of Federal credit unions and another 11,206,000 of you are members of state credit unions, a total of 23,759,000. As of Aug. 31, the National Credit Union Administration—the Federal agency which insures credit union accounts up to the $20,000 limit—estimates that 14,000,000 accounts had been Federally insured.

—That's quite a gap—between 23,759,000 and 14,000,000.

—Why am I making such a fuss about this insurance?

First, because credit unions are among the fastest growing of all financial institutions serving you as a saver and as a borrower of funds. The growth rate of membership in Federal credit unions just between January and August was 7.4 per cent and of membership in state credit unions, 4.9 per cent. What's more, credit unions are rapidly expanding their services and increasingly involving individual employees, particularly in lower income groups.

Second, because the liquidation rate of credit unions—with losses to members—underlines the importance of insurance protection for the credit union shareholder.

"The term 'failure' is not an accurate description of the liquidation of most credit unions, since the majority close because of a disruption of their fields of membership (a plant or military base closing, the like)," said Herman Nickerson, administrator of the NCUA in answer to my query on this. Let's then, simply examine the liquidations.

Last year, 341 Federal credit unions were liquidated, of which 310 paid back 100 per cent or more to shareholders. But 31, with a membership of 5,032 paid back less than 100 per cent. The losses in 1970: $152,087.

Between 1934 and 1970, 5,947 Federal unions were liquidated, of which 4,837 paid back 100 per cent or more. But 1,110, with a membership of 133,043 paid back less than 100 per cent. The losses: $1,868,298.

And most significantly Nickerson has NO information on the liquidation of state-chartered credit unions. This data would have to come from each state. The totals could be shocking.

The message leaps out.

The insurance is available to credit unions which qualify.

Look, therefore, for the blue and white emblem of the NCUA saying your credit union account is insured up to $20,000.

Don't take unnecessary chances with your own savings.

Prices Drift, Market Tiresome In Slow Trading Monday

NEW YORK (AP) — After drifting within a narrow range all day, blue-chip issues followed the rest of the market lower in Monday's slow trading.

The closing Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks fell 2.41 to 872.44.

"I haven't seen such a tire-some market in a long time," said John Smith, an analyst at Fehnestock & Co. "I know the market is confused and is trying to tell us something but I'm not sure what."

Part of the confusion, he said, comes from the blurriness of plans for Phase 2 of the economic program and from concern that Phase 2 policies would not be able to slow down the rate of inflation. He also noted some money managers expected the government to allow greater wage increases than they will price increases in Phase 2.

"Another factor dragging the market down right now are the indications there is another worldwide recession developing just as we're pulling out of ours," Smith added.

The New York Stock Exchange index of some 1,300 common stocks fell .27 to 53.79.

Big Board volume was 10.44 million shares compared with 13.14 million shares Friday.

The Associated Press 60-stock average fell 1.5 to 320.5, with industrials off 2.2, rails off .7, and utilities off .9.

American Stock Exchange prices also lost ground. The Amex price change index dipped .09 to 252.28. Volume was 2.58 million shares, compared with 3.48 million shares Friday. There were 315 advances and 262 declines out of 1,126 issues traded.

Oils, chemicals, metals, utilities, electronics were off. Aircrafts were up. All other stock categories were lower.

Volume leader on the Big Board was Electronic Memories & Magnetics, off 3/4 at 6 3/4.

Other Big Board prices included Studebaker-Worthington, off 6 3/4 at 45 3/4; International Industries, off 3/4 at 4 3/4; General Motors, off 3/4 at 81 1/4; GAF, up 1/2 at 21 3/4; Scott Paper, up 1/4 at 17 1/4; and Deere, off 1/2 at 45 1/4.

Corporate bonds were slightly higher, but governments were lower.

Associated Press Cites Aid By Members In Newsgathering

PHILADELPHIA — The Associated Press Managing Editors Association announced Tuesday the award of 79 citations to members newspapers and broadcasters for outstanding cooperation in covering the news in or near their area for other members of the world-wide news cooperative.

Seventy-four newspapers and five broadcasters were singled out on the opening day of the annual four-day APME convention at the Bellevue Stratford Hotel.

Those honored contributed news, pictures or both to the AP report. Each received a citation outlining its contribution.

Some of the AP members were cited for coverage of major spot news stories, such as the California earthquake, fires, plane crashes, mine accidents and others.

Remember Box-Pleated Skirts? They're Making Fashion Return

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "I'm sick to death of women wearing pants in place of a dress," declared Mr. Blackwell of the better-dress designers opened their part of California fashion week Wednesday with a blatantly romantic collection. The mid is out, so is the mini. What's in is unfemininely old-fashioned-simple box-pleated skirts sitting just above the knee or ruffled Victorian gowns swooping down to the floor. "I'm ignoring women's lib," Blackwell said. "I've never been a friend of intentional losers." He displayed swirling chiffon gowns appropriate for garden parties, clinging floral jerseys topped by deeply fringed shawls and one slinky black gown with a sequined daisy climbing up the front which he called a "nasty sexy look."

A standout was a black-and-white print, ending elegantly in a ruffled flounce hem. Blackwell, the curly-haired enfant terrible of California fashion, repeatedly said, "A woman wants to look pretty for her guy... pants are out except for leisure."

Michael Calderon, designer for S. Howard Hirsch, whipped up almost all floor-length dresses, the fluffiest collection yet. Victorian voile and organza frocks were trimmed in velvet ribbons, lace, stain and appliqued daisies. Calderon said he doesn't intend these for street or office wear—"Can you imagine what would happen getting in elevators and escalators?"

The only man to give the liberated career lady a nod was Jim Church, designer for California Girl. He's even come up with "sensible" lengths, hoping to lure women back to skirts. "My customer doesn't want the long look," he said. "She feels it's dowdy... wear it above the knee or at the ankle, nothing in between."

Hemlines on Church's blazer-skirt costume and simple "little dresses" hit about an inch above the knee. Even Blackwell agreed this season. "Lengths will be according to the dress," he said. Multiple choice is the name of the game with each lady marking the answer to her own fashion question.

Pennsylvania Grange Program Eyes Rural Newlyweds' Woes

Problems confronting rural young married couples will be examined by them under a program of the Pennsylvania State Grange that is aimed at smoothing the way for this group during what has been termed the most difficult period of their career.

A. Wayne Readinger, state master, today pointed out that the young marrieds soon will supply the leadership not only in Pennsylvania agriculture but also in other businesses and in community civic, social and religious activities as well as the whole range of citizenship responsibilities.

Heading the program will be Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Kauffman, Leesport, RD 1, Berks county, who recently were selected state grange young couple of the year for the ensuing year. Their selection was made at a grange young couples conference at Alexandria, Huntingdon county. They will assist in the development of young people's work in the state and will attend the 1972 National grange convention where they will compete with entries from the other forty grange states for national honors. Their activities will be a part of the statewide grange youth program headed by co-chairmen Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Schlegel, Fleetwood, RD 3.

The Kauffmans succeed Mr. and Mrs. Henry Huber of West Chester whose term expires following the 1971 National Grange meeting at Charleston, W. Va. The Hubers will report on their administration at the October 25 to 28 state grange session at Somerset.

Readinger stated that rapidly rising cost of farm land, equipment, livestock and labor confront young farm couples with "a giant-sized financial hurdle that almost always entails many challenges, especially in credit." This comes, he added, at a time when these couples are enlarging their family cares and are looked to for leadership in many farm and farm-related organizations.

One way to preserve the family farm, Readinger said, is to give these young married couples all possible encouragement. The grange he added, will make the needs of these people a significant part of its total program in all of the 65 counties where it operates through 618 subordinate bodies whose 60,000 members include a large number of young married couples.

SECOND PLACE HAIRSTYLING WINNER

Margaret Skinner, Russell, seems delighted with the hairstyle she modeled which won second place in a hair styling competition held in Bradford Sunday by the International School of Beauty Culture. Her styling was done by Lona Dyke, also of Russell. First place went to Linda Briggs of Warren, with Rosanne Hulings as model. The pair is now to compete Oct. 24-25 in Buffalo. Third prize went to Sheryl Weisbrod, Kane, and her model Salley Oakes. (Photo - Mansfield)

Seats Available On Grangers' Bus

The bus taking Warren County Grangers to the state convention to be held in Somerset Oct. 27 is not full, according to grange officials, and there is a need for 20 more reservations to assure the charter.

The bus is to leave Loblaw's parking lot at 11 a.m. Wednesday, Oct. 27. The price for the trip is $6.75.

Anyone wishing to make reservations is asked to call James Smith at 723-1971 or Helen Swanson at 723-6580 or 723-6581. All reservations must be in by Friday, Oct. 22.

Warren's Children To Aid UNICEF In 25th Annual Humanitarian Drive

Twenty-five years ago a revolutionary step in the growth and development of mankind took place. The nations of the world for the first time accepted their common responsibility for the protection of their most precious resource -- their children -- in the aftermath of war. On Dec. 11, 1946 the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund (UNICEF) was formed and assigned the relief operation that was to mean the difference between life and death for millions of the child victims of the Second World War.

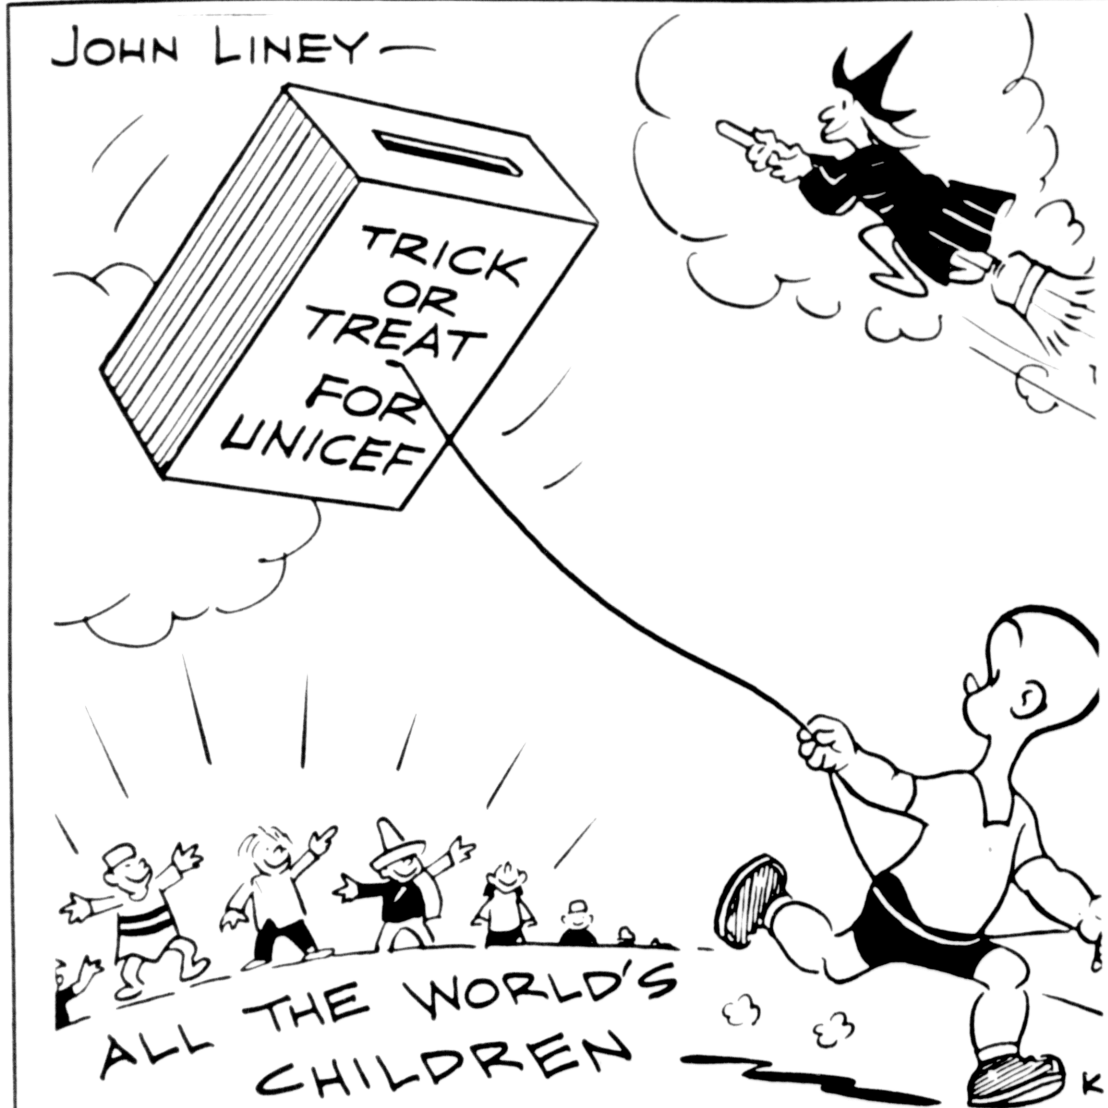

A massive campaign was mounted to feed and clothe the hungry and orphaned children of Europe. This operation was so successful that in the early 1950's the enormous task was virtually completed, and the continuing need for UNICEF's help was questioned.

The United Nations then took a realistic look at the conditions under which the hundreds of millions of children in the developing countries lived. It was decided that the agency that had been able to meet the challenge of a desperate emergency situation could do an even better job, given time, of coping with the problems of children who are malnourished, undereducated (if at all), and lacking even the most primitive medical care. Thus, another step forward, and the nations of the world jointly accepted the responsibility for the future of their young, not only in the aftermath of war but during "normal" times as well.

UNICEF was called upon to play a new and important role in the development of mankind, and since it was no longer simply an emergency relief agency, it adopted the name United Nations Children's Fund, retaining the familiar acronym UNICEF.

The years which followed were years of challenge and change. New needs became apparent and were accepted in the agency's long-range program planning. UNICEF began to work in the fields of nutrition, basic health, disease control, education, and family and child welfare, as well as the provision of relief aid in emergencies that arose through the years.

In 1971 UNICEF's 25th Anniversary Year, the Children's Fund looks beyond the limitations of its present budget and sees an enormous task ahead. Today perhaps one child out of ten in the developing countries is being reached by UNICEF-aided programs. For tomorrow, UNICEF's motto is "A Future For Every Child."

Children affiliated with various Warren churches are to be out next week to observe "Trick or Treat for UNICEF".

Carrying orange containers with the familiar UNICEF blue emblem printed on them, the children are to be collecting coins for their contemporaries who need help.

Children from the First Presbyterian Church are to begin the campaign Oct. 23. Children are to meet at the Fellowship Hall at 2 p.m. Saturday to receive instructions and their coin containers.

Children from other churches are to be collecting during the week of Oct. 25 to 30, with totals to be returned to the YWCA from 10 a.m. to noon on Oct. 30.

With fashion boots so important again this season, it is only fitting that we devote at least one column to the subject, so consider this column devoted to boots. It's such a deep subject that all we will tell you is to check the fashion magazines to see what they're wearing them with. Then check our stock for a good selection in a variety of heights, materials and colors -- and boots for men are going well too. We mean low top dress boots. And for kids you'll find them in dress and casual, and cowboy boots for Christmas. We either have, will have, or can get the one for you. Come in and try on a few.

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a girl, 16. Last year one of my best friends was raped. In June my eight-year-old sister was approached by a child molester. Last month one of my older sister's friends was beaten up while walking home from work in broad daylight. And so on.

I want to take guitar lessons which would require a 12-block walk. We live in a good part of town but my parents say NO! They don't want me walking anywhere alone after dark. So, O.K., I won't take guitar lessons. I can't walk 12 lousy blocks for something I've waited three years for.

Thank you, World! Somewhere there is Love and Peace and Beauty and Truth. Somewhere people live simple, decent lives. Somewhere people don't have guns in the house -- they don't even lock their doors. Somewhere a person can walk down the street at night and not be scared to death that he will be hit over the head. Or shot. Perhaps Love and Truth is too much to ask. But is SAFETY? Someone must be reached. Please help me. I don't understand -- A Girl in Kansas

DEAR GIRL: Somewhere, you say? I'd like to know where that place is. It used to be that the small towns were safe. But no more. What can we do? There are no easy answers, but I can make one suggestion which is closely related to the problems you listed. We can demand that our legislators pass tougher gun laws. Today almost every nut and his cousin has a gun. If the laws had been changed ten years ago I can think of some great Americans who might be alive today.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am not a complainer, and I have a fairly good relationship with almost everyone I know, but this one girl who works in our office drives me loony. She is a lively person, talks a lot, laughs a lot, and always has a story to tell -- complete with gestures.

Whenever she talks to me she always manages to give me a hard sock and I am sick of it. I've told her a dozen times to keep her hands to herself but it doesn't do any good. Every time she relates an incident she hits me -- or she'll give me a jab in the ribs with her elbow and ask "Get it?"

I am desperate for some advice on how to put an end to her galling habit. Please help me. -- Black and Blue in Canada

DEAR B AND B: Hit her back. I'm not kidding. After she gets socked in return (a tap, not a haymaker) she'll let it out.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Would you have believed that a great love affair could be thought of a toothpick? I had three dates with a charming and (I believed) cultured man. I'm sure I would have married him. But on the fourth date he pulled a toothpick out of his pocket and cleaned his teeth for a full three minutes. All my feelings of admiration and love disappeared in those three minutes. Please print this. I didn't have the nerve to tell him why I -- Cooled Off

DEAR OFF: A romance that could be felled by a toothpick wasn't much to begin with. You should have told HIM, Dummy.

Confidential to How? How? How?: There is no ONE way, but here's a simple suggestion. Make yourself important to someone. If just ONE person needs you, that's enough.

Pass Pass

Opening lead: Five of ♦
Altho South voluntarily reduced his trump holding to the vanishing point in today's four spade contract, it proved to be the only road to success on the deal.

East made a takeout double after North opened the bidding with one club. South had the distributional values for a redouble, but he was reluctant to take aggressive action with only six high card points. He accordingly took an alternate course by making a jump shift response of two spades. (A jump in a new suit is forcing for one round on the opening bidder.)

When North made the somewhat negative rebid of two no trump, South retreated to three clubs to show his fit with the original suit. North might have passed at this point, for in light of East's takeout double, the king of hearts no longer seemed an impressive value. North instead chose to show his mild spade fit and South carried on to game.

Had West somehow put his hand on the ten of hearts, there would have been no story to tell for after the defense cashes out their book in that suit—there is no way to prevent East from scoring the setting trick subsequently with the queen of spades. There is no criticism to be levied against West however for making the more normal lead of the five of diamonds. East put up the ace and South ruffed with the three of spades.

Declarer could count five spade tricks—provided that suit divided favorably—and four clubs. The normal procedure for scoring a 10th trick would be to lead toward the king of hearts to the hope that West held the ace. In light of East's takeout double, declarer considered it unlikely that a heart play would succeed and he looked for an alternative.

If all of the dummy's diamonds were ruffed out, it might be possible to eliminate East's side cards and eventually force the latter to lead hearts. At trick two, South led over to the king of spades to trump a second diamond with the seven of spades. The ace of trumps was cashed and when both opponents followed suit, only the queen remained outstanding.

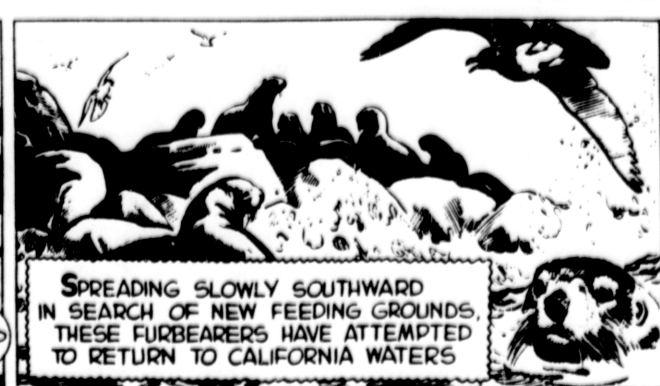

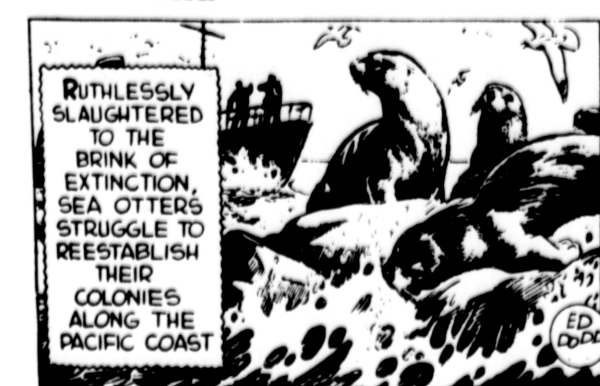

A club to the king put North in for another diamond ruff and the ace of clubs was employed to trump a fourth diamond with the ten of spades. Altho South was now out of trumps, he had achieved his objective, for East was down to the queen of spades and the A-Q-J-2 of hearts. The queen of clubs was led and East had a choice of unpleasant alternatives. If he ruffed in, he would have to lead hearts and dummy would score the fulfilling trick with the king of hearts. If East took discards on the remaining clubs, South would also have 10 tricks—four clubs, four diamond ruffs and the ace, king of spades.

East chose the latter course and South cheerfully conceded the last three tricks.

Your Horoscope

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR TUESDAY, OCTOBER 19, 1971

ARIES (March 21 to April 20) — Under day's generous Mars aspect, you should feel ambitious, seek new ways to improve, eliminate waste motion. Long-range projects especially favored.

TAURUS (April 21 to May 21) — You may not find it simple to deal with various types of people and situations without running into opposition and misunderstandings. But if you recognize this, you can remain unruffled.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21) — Don't cross others heedlessly or when they are disturbed, except if a matter is important. Be especially tactful when dealing with the opposite sex, superiors. Avoid extremes, anxiety.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23) — Excellent lunar influences suggest that you take advantage of ALL opportunities. Do not let the good "little" things pass unnoticed while you search for big ones.

LEO (July 24 to August 23) — Calculations must be careful, else you could get well off the track. Account for your share of work seriously, but don't take YOURSELF too seriously. Don't make rash promises.

VIRGO (August 24 to September 23) — No outstandingly impressive opportunities indicated, yet there are hidden gems of value in this day which you may overlook if too hasty, too anxious, or superficial in your search.

LIBRA (September 24 to October 23) — Avoid a tendency towards lethargy now. You could make some unusual strides if you put your talents to work. Emphasize your top-flight adaptability.

SCORPIO (October 24 to November 22) — You may find it desirable to make some changes in your program now, but be sure the alterations you make ARE an improvement. Advancement for the resourceful and accurate.

COLD OR ALLERGY?
Mrs. L. L. writes: "My 30-year-old husband gets a cold in October, and it lasts until April. His nose is stuffy and he coughs and sneezes all winter. With the advent of warm weather, he makes a dramatic recovery and feels like a million. Have you any suggestions on how to eliminate his colds?"

Respiratory infections are common in winter, but they usually do not last for six months. An allergic condition is suspected if coughing, sneezing and nasal congestion recur at the same time of the year and persist the entire winter. Household dust that is related to a heating system is a good possibility. Dry air also aggravates the reaction. If the allergic reaction disappears during the summer, then the heating system may be the culprit.

Wintering in Arizona or Florida may prove my point. If the condition subsides while basking in the sun, winter-related allergy is a good possibility. Air pollutants, such as dust and chemicals, are more prevalent during the colder months, especially in our cities. Perhaps these substances are irritating the membranes and the constant secretions are considered a "cold." Only the physician can determine whether the "cold" congestion is due to infection, allergy or mechanical irritation. As a rule, when allergy is responsible, the nasal membranes and throat are pale and smooth. If, however, infection exists they are reddened and swollen.

If our reader's husband developed seasonal cold symptoms only in the spring or summer, the culprits probably would be tree, grass or flower pollens. But in order to blame allergy for the winter distress, we must find something with which he comes into contact only during the cold months. Possibilities other than those mentioned include the moisture-starved indoor air or an allergy to molds or to a wool blanket.

Officials Term Series Spree Just 'Jubilant Celebration'

PITTSBURGH (AP)—City officials characterized Monday, a night of World Series merry-making that resulted in nearly 100 arrests and as many injuries, as nothing more than a "jubilant celebration."

A crowd of more than 100,000 persons jammed a small area of midtown Sunday after the hometown Pirates defeated Baltimore in the final and deciding game of the World Series. Segments of the crowd soon turned to vandalism and looting.

Police Supt. Robert E. Colville described the events as "a jubilant celebration" while talking to reporters at a Monday afternoon news conference he said he called to "set the facts straight."

Colville said reports of rapes and criminal assaults on the downtown streets were without foundation and had been "fabricated" by the "national news media."

The superintendent was referring to a night desk sergeant's statement that a dozen rapes had been reported during the downtown commotion. An Associated Press newsman witnessed one apparent assault on Fifth Avenue.

Colville said the news media should not have taken information from anyone less than an administration official in something that serious.

As for eyewitness accounts of looting in a park near the main congregating area, Colville said there was "nothing unusual" in that. He said that over all, some people got a "little out of hand, but that happens whenever such a large crowd gathers."

He said three or four policemen were hurt during the commotion, but not seriously. Two-thirds of the city's 1,200-man police force was on duty Sunday night, 600 in the downtown area, Colville said.

Idle Coal Miners Dump Fuel, Damage Equipment

NEW CASTLE, Pa. (AP)—A caravan of about 150 idled coal miners moved through Lawrence County Monday, damaging equipment and dumping fuel at at least one mine, state police said.

Troopers said they did not make any arrests, but escorted the caravan along U.S. 422 towards Butler.

The damage was reported at the Ambrosia Coal Co. about five miles west of New Castle.

Meanwhile, in Butler County, the owners of five non-union mines asked Common Pleas Court for an injunction against the striking United Mine Workers union, prohibiting members from interfering with operations at the pits.

The owners claimed striking UMW members had damaged property, interfered with traffic in and out of the mine and threatened violence to workers.

In nearby New Philadelphia, Ohio, meanwhile, the operator of a non-union mine agreed not to move coal while unrest continues among strikers.

Chief Deputy Sheriff John Barlock of Tuscarawas County disclosed the agreement between representatives of UMW District 5 and Dan Gafton, part owner and manager of the Wallick mine, located in the county.

Reports of unrest among striking miners continued in eastern Ohio where a mine tippie, the office of James Brothers Coal Co., and a machine shop were burned Saturday.

Graterford Superintendent A Different Kind Of Jailer

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Robert L. Johnson, superintendent for the past six months of the State Correctional Institution at Graterford just outside of Philadelphia, thinks of himself as a different kind of jailer.

"I wouldn't stay here as a turnkey," he said. "Anybody can lock people up."

Johnson, 46 and black, came to Graterford from the Governor's Justice Commission, where he was chief of the crime prevention division. He was formerly a state parole official.

In six months he has started rap sessions, yoga classes and a group sensitivity session conducted by University of Pennsylvania students.

Johnson has the usual complaints of a warden. He has five caseworkers for 1,500 when he should have 23, and he needs 50 more guards. "And not just to be custodial, but to develop relationships. We don't have enough personnel even to run the day-by-day operation, let alone be inventive," he said.

Johnson has been inventive. He has established a unit of the Jaycees in the prison, permitted a wedding, allowed inmates to correspond freely, had the screens separating visitors and prisoners removed, allowed the press access to the prison and established pre-release and furlough programs.

This is a drastic change from the policies of his predecessor, A.T. Rundle, who when asked in January just before his retirement why he didn't meet with prisoners after a hunger strike in 1969, replied:

"We don't meet with the inmates."

Johnson does meet with inmates. He believes 60 per cent of them could be living outside of prison "provided we had the resources and top notch supervision."

"I don't approve of what many have done. But I can understand the forces that impelled them to do what they do in many cases."

Johnson roams throughout the corridors of the prison—greeted with courtesy by both inmates and guards—and says he will quit the day he does not feel free to do so.

Johnson held a rap session with the guards a few weeks ago. He stopped to talk to a 15-year veteran guard about the session.

The guard, who was white, replied the efforts Johnson has been making are ones he would have liked to see years ago, but that other guards are distressed — and haven't told the warden so because they are not used to expressing their sentiments when asked by a superior.

Never Heard Bribe Offer, Lawyer Says

NEW YORK (AP)—A lawyer for TelePrompTer Corp. testified Monday that he attended a meeting between Irving Kahn, former president of the cable television firm, and city officials of Johnstown Pa., but never heard Kahn offer a bribe.

The lawyer, Walter E. Schier, was a defense witness at Kahn's trial in federal court on charges of conspiracy, bribery and perjury.

Former Mayor Kenneth O. Tompkins of Johnstown and former city Councilman J. Howard Deardoff have pleaded guilty to bribery conspiracy in connection the TelePrompTer exclusive cable TV franchise for the Pennsylvania city.

Schier said he was present at the Holiday Inn in Johnstown on Jan. 24, 1966, when Kahn met with Tompkins and one or two other men.

The lawyer said he left after about 45 minutes because he had to prepare a statement for the city council meeting the following day. The council was to open public bidding on the cable TV franchise.

TelePrompTer had refused to take part in the bidding, Schier said.

"We considered the bidding illegal. We continued to maintain that we would be willing to negotiate," he said.

He said TelePrompTer had prepared a formula involving monetary guarantees against gross receipts which over a 20-year-period would amount to $400,000 to $425,000. Later, he said, the aggregate was raised to $474,000.

"Did you hear Mr. Kahn offer to pay city officials $7,500," asked defense lawyer Peter Fleming.

"No, I didn't," Schier replied. He gave the same answer when asked if he heard Kahn offer "any amount of money."

Kahn has resigned as president of TelePrompTer, but remains chairman of its board.

TREE FARM SITE

A 71-acre forest on Keller rd. in Conewango Twp., Warren County, owned by Ben G. Clifton, a local realtor, has been designated as a Tree Farm after being selectively cut by consulting forester David E. Anundson of Sheffield. The Tree Farm designation is to insure that the forest will be managed in a manner which will insure continuous production of commercial forest crops in accordance with forestry practices approved by the American Forest Institute, Pennsylvania Department of Forests & Waters, and the Pennsylvania Forestry Association. The forest is primarily one of red oak trees.

GRAND OPENING SPECIAL—NOW!

Good news for residents of this area is the opening by Gary and Jackie Wallin, of a Crossland Furniture Restoration Studio at 2025 Penn Avenue East, Warren, Pa.

As a Grand Opening Special, Gary and Jackie will strip the paint or varnish from one side chair (limit one per family) for just $3.00 between now and November 6th. This is a savings of $5.50 on a painted chair.

The Crossland Process is the most modern known for stripping paint and varnish from furniture. It is the only process approved by antique dealer associations, interior decorators and professional furniture refinishers; for it doesn't raise the grain, loosen glued joints or harm the patina.

PREMIERE IN LONDON

NEW YORK (AP) — After "Nicholas and Alexandra" has its world premiere in London, the Sam Spiegel-Franklin J. Schaffner production will have its American premiere Dec. 13 in New York.

The film stars Michael Jayston and Janet Suzman of Britain's Royal Shakespeare Company in title roles and Tom Baker of England's National Theatre as Rasputin.

all-color motion pictures are especially popular because the man who filmed the picture appears on the stage and narrates his film.

The program is designed for all members of the family. Season tickets, priced at $6, are available from any Rotarian, at Community Consumer Discount Co., the Warren National Bank, and Northwest Savints Co.

Tickets will also be available at the door tonight. No single admissions will be sold, however.

Other speakers and their topics are: Robert Q. Ostlund, "Italy's Beautiful Tuscany," Tues., Nov. 30; Robert Brouwer, "Spring Captures Holland," Tues., Jan. 25; Keith McColl, "Alberta, Canada - Unlimited," Tues., March 2; Albert G. Kerlof, "Expedition South Pole," Mon., April 3; and Joe Adair, "Norwegian Panoramas," Thurs., May 4.

Proceeds from the series, highly acclaimed in the past three presentations, will be used to enable Warren Rotary to continue its work on community and international projects.

Tuesday's TV Highlights

How to give cold spots a warm feeling

Winter mornings dawn cold in an unheated garage. The car seat is cold and the engine starts grudgingly. And winter evenings put a chill in out-of-the-way basement rec rooms. But a Temco gas heater chases the chills, makes the car easier to start... lets you enjoy your whole home on the coldest winter night.

A Temco gas heater features a sealed combustion chamber and thru-the-wall venting, so it can be installed near any wall. No need for a chimney. What's more, thanks to its shadow-slim design, the Temco gas heater is an attractive complement to any decor as it delivers wall-to-wall heat in rooms you used to forget about until summer.

See the Temco gas heater at your Pennsylvania Gas office now and start giving those cold spots a warm feeling. New Temco gas heaters are compact and can be installed wherever you want them.

Thru-the-wall venting eliminates need for a chimney. Permits easy installation near any wall. Sealed combustion chamber delivers maximum efficiency. Shadow-slim design enhances any decor.

There's Speculation That Murtaugh Will Retire

By D. BYRON YAKE
Associated Press Sports Writer
PITTSBURGH (AP) — Will Murtaugh will return as manager of the world champion Pittsburgh Pirates next year? "I'll decide in the next month or so if I'll return," the 54-year-old manager had said during the World Series.
Murtaugh, looking pale and tired after the final game, says a decision would be made only because of his health.
Murtaugh resigned four years after the Pirates won the World Championship in 1960 because of a heart ailment. But he has returned twice since—in 1967, only for one year because of a second heart attack, when he led the Pirates to a division championship.
"Even if I don't return," Murtaugh said, "I won't say it will be permanent, like I did the last two times."
Murtaugh says he won't make the decision alone.
"We'll have a family meeting and discuss it," he said. "My daughter and two sons and their spouses will sit down with my wife and me and vote on it."
"Of course my vote will be the deciding vote."
If Murtaugh should step down, his likely replacement would be Bill Virdon.
Virdon, the Pirate batting coach and former centerfielder for Pittsburgh, conducted the Pirate clubhouse meetings during the regular season.
He also was interim manager when Murtaugh was hospitalized, again for a heart problem.
General Manager Joe L. Brown has said openly that Murtaugh is his manager as long as he wants the job, but he is not as free with his endorsements of the Pirate players.
There are very few untouchables on the Pirate club and Brown can be expected to be ready to trade for players he believes will strengthen his club.
"I'm always ready to deal if I think we can improve ourselves," said Brown. "And when you're a winner, your players are even in greater demand."

The Pirates will be looking for improvement at shortstop and probably in some areas of pitching.
Gene Alley, who batted .227 during the regular season and started only one game in the World Series, is scheduled to undergo a knee operation soon and has indicated he may retire from baseball.
Jack Hernandez, who played shortstop in Alley's place, did a fine job in the Series, but he batted only .206 and had 18 errors during the season. Alley had 22. The Shortstop position obviously is the biggest gap in the Pirate infield.
Centerfielder Al Oliver, platooned during the season with Gene Clines, is unhappy and says he wants to be traded if he doesn't play every day. He may get his wish.
Relief pitcher Bob Veale, who has more victories as a Pirate than any other pitcher on the staff—and more shutouts—also may be on the market, although his 7.04 earned run average, despite a 6-0 record, may not be very attractive to other clubs.
"I expect to be traded," said the bachelor Veale. "I think I could have helped this ball club as a starter, but somebody made the decision otherwise. Veale has won 116 games in nine seasons with the Pirates.

A major question in the Pirate pitching department is whether Dock Ellis will ever wear a Pittsburgh uniform again.
The chatty Ellis, who had a 19-9 record this season, but pitched only 21-3 innings in the first game of the World Series because of a sore elbow, has blasted the Pirate management as cheapskates.
Ellis excluded Murtaugh in the blast aimed primarily at Brown and the Pirate ownership, but his public comments obviously embarrass Brown.
Brown is not a man who takes such things lightly.
If Murtaugh, who gets along well with Ellis, retires, it would seem to heighten chances for Ellis's exit.
Roberto Clemente, the Most Valuable Player in the World Series, probably is the only untouchable.
Willie Stargell, who will undergo knee surgery over the winter, also may be in that category, along with catcher Manny Sanguillen.
Brown says he won't break up a team unless he believes he is getting something better in return.
For the moment he has the best—the world champions.

Baltimore's Empty Seats Baffles Series Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "Maybe next year we ought to have Bat Day at the World Series," one pundit remarked last weekend as he viewed the rows of empty seats in Baltimore's Memorial Stadium during the final two games of baseball's autumn spectacular.
"If we gave away free bats or helmets, maybe we could fill the joint."
Although the seven-game series between the world champion Baltimore Orioles and Pittsburgh Pirates provided one of the most dramatic climaxes in sports history, the finishing games Saturday and Sunday proved disappointments at the gate.
On Saturday, with Pittsburgh leading the Series, three games to two, only 44,174 turned out at Memorial Stadium, leaving 7,963 of the 52,137 seats unoccupied.
On Sunday, after a nerve-jarring triumph by the Orioles in the sixth game that tied the series at 3-3, a crowd of 47,291 showed up for the big showdown. There were 4,846 empty seats. Hundreds of those on hand had transistor radios at their ears to follow the progress of their favorite pro football team.

The sudden tailoff of World Series interest at a point when interest should have been peaking, produced considerable uneasiness in baseball quarters.
Is major league baseball losing much of its glamour and gate appeal to fast-rising pro football, as some of the surveys insist? Is pro football becoming the true national pastime in the United States?
Is the season too long and draggy with 162-game schedules instead of the old 154 plus post-season playoffs that push into the guts of the football season and conflict with professional basketball and ice hockey openers?
Is there a limit to the spectator dollar in an era of economic instability and the Presidential price and wage freeze?
Or is it simply a case of sports fans in Baltimore, which calls itself "Flagtown USA," being too blasé about winning major championships? This marked the third straight time the Orioles had been in the World Series. The Colts are National Football League Super Bowl champions. The Bullets made it into the finals of the National Basketball Association playoffs last year.

Or still further, did Jerry Hoffberger, the Orioles' owner, blow it when he sought to be charitable and give the fans a break by holding back 10,000 tickets for the final two days instead of forcing purchasers to buy tickets in blocks, as has been the custom in the past?
Loughery Traded
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia 76ers of the National Basketball Association traded guard Archie Clark, a second-round choice in the 1973 college draft and an undisclosed amount of cash to the Baltimore Bullets Monday night for guards Kevin Loughery and Fred Carter.

Warren's harriers will compete this afternoon in the Section II run at Titusville.

A's Williams: Top AL Pilot

NEW YORK (AP) — Dick Williams of the Oakland A's, fired two years ago by Boston because "I was not mean," was named Monday as The Associated Press' Manager of the Year in the American League.
Williams, who in his first year as manager of the A's guided them to a runaway 16-game margin in the AL West with a 101-60 record, received 107 votes in nationwide balloting by sports writers and sports-casters.
Bob Lemon of Kansas City finished second with 66 votes, with Earl Weaver of Baltimore third with 59. Chuck Tanner of the Chicago White Sox was fourth with 36 and Billy Martin of Detroit fifth with 12.
It was the third straight year Weaver, whose Orioles have won three consecutive pennants, failed to win the award. Ted Williams of Washington won in 1969 and Ralph Houk of the New York Yankees won it last year.

"I knew the voting went in before the playoffs, so I figured I had a chance," said Williams who also won in 1967 when he managed Boston to a pennant. "It's a wonderful honor."
"I know Earl has to be upset because he deserves recognition with all his pennant and World Series winners," Williams said at his home in Riviera Beach, Fla. "I feel sorry for him, but I feel happy for myself."
Told of the outcome of the balloting, Weaver said in Baltimore, the day after his team's loss to Pittsburgh in the World Series:
"Maybe some of them voters will get to see a major league game, other than on television, some day. I hope so."
But he also said, "Dick Williams did a tremendous job. He deserves it."

Talent-Laden Baltimore Swears That It Will Return Next Year

BALTIMORE (AP) — The former world champion Baltimore Orioles could be the team to beat in 1972—and there's a lot of young talent down on the farms to help them.
Room will have to be made on next year's roster for at least two players from Baltimore's talent-rich club system as the Orioles seek their fourth straight American League pennant.
Three Baltimore farm clubs won championships during the past season, including a second straight in the all-rookie Appalachian League even though the Orioles have drafted last the past two years.
"This is still the best damn team in baseball," Manager Earl Weaver said several times Sunday after the Orioles had been upset in the World Series for the second time in three years.
"We'll prove it next year," he added "when we win 100 games" for the fourth straight season.
The Orioles this year became only the third team in history to win at least 100 games three years in a row. But the loss to Pittsburgh in the World Series, though not as shocking as the defeat by the New York Mets in 1969, tarnishes the record somewhat.
"When you lose the Series," outfielder Frank Robinson said, "everyone seems to forget you had a great season just to get there."
After Sunday's seventh game, the 36-year-old Robinson reiterated that he'd like to play for the Orioles again in 1972, "and help this team win its fourth pennant in a row."
The Orioles added five new faces to their 25-man roster after beating Cincinnati in the 1970 World Series, and more changes are due before next season.
The significance of the changes depend on whether a major trade is made. Robinson's name undoubtedly will be mentioned in trade rumors, and possibly solid offers, as it was this year.
If the Orioles do barter, they probably will be looking for more pitching—despite a starting rotation of four 20-game winners—and possibly a catcher.

The bullpen was a bit weak in 1971, partly because the relievers were used infrequently as starters completed 71 games. But Dick Hall is now 41 and did not have a particularly good season.
The Orioles may deal a front line player to obtain pitching, while reducing their infield or outfield corps to make way for infielder Bobby Grich and outfielder Don Baylor from their Rochester farm club.
Regardless, Grich and Baylor are certain to be retained in 1972.
Jack Landers Named To Advisory Group
The Sheffield Sports Boosters held their regular monthly meeting on Sunday at the Crescent Camp on Bull Hill, with 24 members present. John Labesky, club president, conducted the meeting.
A general discussion was held on the proposed construction of a chain-link fence around the Community Playground. It was estimated that the approximate cost of this project if initiated by the Booster Club will be approximately $7,000. It was decided the club will contact other organizations in the town to determine if this project could be sponsored jointly.
It was also announced that Jack Landers has been named to the Warren County School District athletic committee.

Pittsburgh Blows Lead To Kansas City Chiefs

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Sore-armed Len Dawson zeroed in on Otis Taylor in a spectacular aerial display and the Kansas City Chiefs erased a 9-0 deficit with four second-quarter touchdowns.
Mini Bowl Tonight
Pleasant and Russell clash this evening at 5:30 p.m. in the Mini-Bowl of the Tabby Football League to determine 1971's elementary school champion.
This game, along with the Runner-Up Bowl between McClintock and Sugar Grove will be played at the Airport Field. Both games will be played simultaneously.

downs for a 38-16 victory over the Pittsburgh Steelers Monday night in a nationally televised American Football Conference game.
Dawson hurled payoff strikes of five and 27 yards to the rangy Taylor and five yards to rookie Elmo Wright. Ed Podolak scored the fourth touchdown on a one-yard run and Emmitt Thomas added a TD in the last moments on a 32-yard pass interception run.
After the big second-quarter flurry, the Chiefs never were able to do much against the young Steelers, except for an 11-yard field goal on the first play of the final quarter by Jan Stenerud, who converted after all five touchdowns and Thomas' theft.
Pittsburgh jumped ahead in the opening quarter on field goals of 32, 40 and 35 yards by

Mets Trade Shamsky To St. Louis Cards

NEW YORK (AP) — Veteran outfielder Art Shamsky and three minor league pitchers were traded by the New York Mets to St. Louis Monday for reliever Chuck Taylor and three other players.
Shamsky, 29, a left-handed hitter, played three years for Cincinnati before being traded to the Mets for infielder Bob Johnson after the 1967 season.
Battered by a back injury suffered in July, Shamsky hit only 185 with five home runs and 18 runs batted in last season.
Taylor posted a 3-1 record with three saves and a 3.55 earned run average in his third year with the Cardinals last season. He made one start.
The Mets also sent righthander Jim Bibby, 15-6 with Tidewater, left-hander Rich Folkers, 7-11 at Tidewater, and left-hander Charlie Hudson, 1-2 at Memphis as a reliever, to St. Louis.
The Cardinals also sent first baseman-outfielder Jim Beau-champ, 32, who hit .235 mostly as a pinch hitter with St. Louis last season, to the Mets and assigned right-handed pitcher Harry Parker and infielder Tom Coulter to Tidewater. Parker was 11-12 for the Cardinals' Tulsa club last season, and Coulter hit .238 for Tulsa.

NOTICE

TO: All parents and guardians of mentally retarded persons resident in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Notice is hereby given (1) that a proposed Order approving a Consent Agreement and issuing certain Injunctions in Pennsylvania Association for Retarded Children, et al., v. Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, E.D. Pa., C.A. No. 71-42, is on file with the Clerk of the United States District Court.

(2) That the above mentioned action, on behalf of all mentally retarded persons who have been denied access to a free, public program of education and training, was begun on January 7, 1971, raising certain procedural and substantive claims against the laws and practices of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, the Department of Education, the Department of Public Welfare, 12 named School Districts and Intermediate Units and the class of all School Districts and Intermediate Units in the Commonwealth, because of their failure to provide a free public education to all mentally retarded children.

(3) That the proposed Order would approve a Consent Agreement entered into by the named parties on October 7, 1971, providing that each mentally retarded child shall be accorded access to a program of education and training, that notice and an opportunity for a hearing shall be accorded before any change in the educational assignment of mentally retarded children, that certain sections of the Public School Code shall be so construed, and that certain Regulations so providing shall be promulgated thereunder, and that a Special Master shall be appointed to oversee the identification by defendants of all mentally retarded children who have been denied an education and the formulation and implementation by defendants of a plan to provide a free, public program of education and training to all mentally retarded children as soon as possible and no later than September 1, 1972, and would also issue certain Injunctions consistent with the Consent Agreement.

(4) That the parents or guardian of any mentally retarded child (or any school district or intermediate unit) who may wish to make an objection to the Proposed Order approving the Consent Agreement may do so by entering an appearance and filing a statement of objections with the Clerk of the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania, 9th and Chestnut Streets, Philadelphia, on or before October 20, 1971. Hearing thereon shall be held before the Court at 10:00 o'clock A.M., October 22, 1971.

EASTER LILIES NOW?

The plant may have its seasons mixed up, but the result is an unexpected burst of beauty near the driveway of Louie Fredrickson of 519 Conewango ave. in Warren. The Easter Lily was transplanted in August and is thriving now, despite the late October season. (Photo by Mansfield)

Bear Lake Area News Notes

BAPEGGY OSBORNE — Roger Woodin was selected to represent Bear Lake in the county's new Minute Man policy in action taken at the Bear Lake Council meeting on Monday, Oct. 11, at the fire hall. President Lee Crosby chaired the meeting, which also included discussion of the borough park and posting of notices that the borough is not liable for injuries in either summer or winter sports that may occur on its premises. Randy Smith reported he had conferred with the borough lawyer about the one-half percent tax due from the county, and that a further report would be made.

Summer resident Newland Lord recently returned to his winter home in Independence, Kan.

Officers will be elected at the Nov. 18 meeting of the Bear Lake Community Fair Committee, set to start at 7:30 p.m. in the fire hall. Due to a small attendance, not much was discussed at the Sat., Oct. 9 meeting chaired by president Walter Newhouse.

Mrs. John Evans and Mrs. Walter Newhouse Sr. are both patients at Corry Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Schenck held a birthday party for Mr. Bill Crochran, Mrs. Schenck's father, on Thursday, Oct. 14.

The Bear Lake ambulance was called out at 2:00 a.m. Thursday to a one-car accident just east of the borough limits, where Jim Donaldson's auto struck a tree after he reportedly fell asleep. He was taken to WCA Hospital in Jamestown.

Mr. and Mrs. Reno Berkey attended the funeral of her sister in Erie on Tuesday, Oct. 12.

Elk Twp. Selects

Homecoming Board

Officers for the 1972 Elk Township Homecoming were elected at a recent board meeting at the Rustic Inn. David Reagle was named chairman, with Kingston Landblom, vice-chairman and Onolee Rodgers, secretary-treasurer. Other board members are: Mrs. Lathair Swanson, Mrs. Donald Davies, Harry Nasman, Donald Hagberg, Kenneth Johnson, Fred Mendenhall, James Smith, Kenneth Jespersen, Dr. Fenner Landblom, Richard Campbell and Mrs. Ray Wall. Campbell is the chairman of the Seneca Covenant Church and Mrs. Wall is the Ladies' Aid president.

The 1971 board, chaired by Richard Campbell, reported that the 1971 homecoming had been a success, and thanked all those who helped make it so.

Damages $1700; No Injuries

No one was hurt Monday morning when a Steelton, Pa. driver fell asleep at the wheel and collided with another vehicle on Route 948 three miles south of Sheffield.

Police said Charles E. Stroud, 23 of 200 Catherine st., Steelton, apparently fell asleep at the wheel while driving north on 948.

He drove off the right side of the road, sideswiped a south-bound car driven by William George Verbosky, 21, of RD Sheffield and hit several small trees before coming to a complete stop.

Damage to Stroud's 1969 convertible was estimated at $1400. The Verbosky car suffered $300 damage.

Controversy Swirls Around C-5 Transport

WASHINGTON (AP) — Little has changed in the three years since A. Ernest Fitzgerald, a government cost-efficiency specialist, startled Congress with reports of huge cost overruns on the Air Force's C5 super-transport plane.

The Air Force's fleet of 47 shiny new C5s sits idle on airport runways, grounded while inspectors scour them with X rays, to determine whether any more engines are likely to fall off, as one did last month. Their findings probably will send costs to the taxpayer climbing further.

Air Force officials view the Lockheed-built plane's problems as something expected with any new airplane. The view isn't shared by their civilian boss.

"I don't consider having these kind of failures ... as something that we would like to have, and I would not call it normal," says

Air Force Secretary Robert C. Seamans Jr.

But there is little Seamans can do. The Air Force already has spent or obligated $3.8 billion for the C5. "It's kind of like your car after the warranty runs out," one officer said. "You don't junk it, you fix it."

What's more, the Air Force needs the plane. Even the sharpest congressional critics agree on this.

The C5 is the world's largest airplane and, at nearly $60 million a copy, the most expensive. Its 248-foot length, 223-foot wingspread and six-story height would crowd a football field.

Seventeen C5s could have done the work of the 300 transports required for the 1948 Berlin airlift.

Since the first C5 became operational in June 1970, they have air-freighted huge loads of outsized cargo such as helicopters and tanks to U.S. troops in Europe and Vietnam. Until their grounding last week, the planes chalked up an impressive safety record: 35,000 flying hours without a single accident. Pilots marvel at its relative handling ease.

But despite its record, congressional critics shooting to cut military spending and cost overruns say the C5 is a lemon.

Linesville Teachers On Strike Monday

LINESVILLE, Pa. — Members of the Linesville Education Association, approximately 55 teachers serving the Linesville-Conneaut-Summit area of the Conneaut School District, voted to go on strike at 7 a.m. on Monday.

Teachers voted Sunday afternoon to reject a fact finder's report on unresolved 1971-72 contract items.

Linesville High School and three elementary schools are affected by the strike.
